KETAMINE USE IN PALLIATIVE CARE

ZOOM WEBINAR
Thursday 3 December, 7.30 – 8.30am

BREAKFAST SESSION

DR MATT WILSON
Palliative Medical Specialist
Hospice Waikato

Ketamine has a longstanding but sometimes controversial role in managing complex pain in palliative care. This practical, case-based session will explore who may benefit from ketamine, when it should be considered, and how it can be used in clinical practice. We will discuss findings from a retrospective study of subcutaneous ketamine for complex cancer pain at Hospice Waikato and consider what our local experience can teach us about using ketamine well.

Dr Matt Wilson is a Palliative Medicine Specialist at Hospice Waikato. He completed his specialist training in palliative medicine earlier this year, having previously trained in general practice. During his training, Matt undertook a retrospective study examining the use of subcutaneous ketamine for complex cancer pain in the Hospice Waikato inpatient unit.
