JANET PARKER

Nurse Practitioner, Older Adult Service – Health New Zealand | Te Whatu ora Waitemata

Falls are the leading cause of unintentional injury in older people and are often a consequence of frailty. They can result in significant injury, functional decline, loss of confidence and death. Preventing and reducing falls is everyone's responsibility and needs to be front of mind.

The webinar will cover falls risks across settings so will be useful for a wide range of health professionals at all levels.

Janet practiced in community health, first as a District Nurse and then as a Gerontology Nurse Specialist. She gained her Master of Nursing in 2007 and achieved Nurse Practitioner registration in 2010. She has continued to develop her expertise in gerontology and educates teams across the motu.
