MANUAL HANDLING IN MEDICAL EMERGENCIES

WEDNESDAY 7 MAY, 7PM - 8PM

PRESENTER

KRIS GAGLIARDI

Critical Care Paramedic, Hato Hone St John

Kris is a frontline Critical Care Paramedic with Hato Hone St John. He has previously held senior clinical leadership roles within the organisation, most recently as General Manager Clinical Improvement. In this role, he led the development of clinical pathways for time-critical conditions such as STEMI, stroke, and major trauma, as well as new models of care for patients with non-urgent conditions.

Kris is also an Extended Care Paramedic and Director of Paramedic Associates New Zealand Ltd, which partners with GPs, private specialists, and other health providers to deliver responsive in-home medical care. His key interests include systems of care and unlocking the full potential of New Zealand's paramedicine workforce.

Join Kris for a practical and engaging session exploring key principles, including:

- Safe lifting techniques – and when not to lift
- Choosing the right approach for each patient scenario
- Essential terminology and clinical decision-making
- Communication and crew resource management (CRM)
- Environmental considerations and equipment selection
- Preserving patient comfort and dignity throughout the process.
