PAEDIATRIC EMERGENCIES

WEDNESDAY 20 AUGUST, 7PM - 8PM

PRESENTER

NATALIE COWLEY

Paediatric Nurse Educator, Starship ED

Responding to unwell tamariki can be daunting – especially when their vital signs look different from adults, and they're unable to clearly describe what's wrong. This webinar is designed specifically for Fire and Emergency NZ responders, offering a focused overview of common paediatric presentations, what to look for, and how to approach and manage a sick child with confidence.

We'll explore key differences in paediatric vital signs, early red flags, and simple frameworks to guide initial assessment and stabilisation. Whether you're first on the scene or supporting ambulance response, these tools will help you feel more prepared when the patient is pēpi or tamaiti, baby or child.

Natalie has worked in Starship Children's Emergency for 14 years and is currently the Nurse Educator. With a postgrad diploma in advanced nursing, child health and education, Natalie brings warmth, clarity, and practical expertise to this essential topic.
