Join us for an evening webinar that will explore a brief history of anaesthetic nursing in Aotearoa and aligning nursing knowledge and skills to the anaesthetic assistant role. Pathways to develop anaesthetic nursing competencies will be outlined in addition to the learnings from six years of delivering RN-AA training in NZ, the implications of re-branding the RN-AA and flexible ways of working.

Her nursing career has spanned 32 years in perioperative care, particularly anaesthetics and PACU, with 18 years in an education capacity. Siân also completed the Dip App Sci (Anaesthetic Technology) in 2006 and continues to maintain registration with the MSC as an Anaesthetic Technician. One of her current responsibilities is leadership of the SCH RN Assistant to the Anaesthetist programmes across both public and private hospitals in Aotearoa.
