SESSION

DR PETER EASTMAN

*Director, Department of palliative care
Barwon Health*

Dr Peter Eastman is a clinician-researcher and Director of the Barwon Health Department of Palliative Care. Peter is heavily involved in medical education at both undergraduate and postgraduate levels and holds honorary appointments with both Deakin University and University of Technology Sydney. Peter leads the Barwon Health Palliative Care research team and has been the site Principal Investigator for a range of national and international multi-centre clinical trials. He has co-authored more than 40 peer-reviewed publications and is currently undertaking a Master of Health Economics.

This session will provide a broad overview of the interface between stroke and palliative in both acute and more chronic settings.
